

December 2025 Prayer Guide

Monday prayer points: Literature

- Praise God for Langham Literature's presence at the Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) and Evangelical Theological Society (ETS) meetings in Boston last month. Many books were sold and important contacts and introductions made. Please pray that those who came across Langham for the first time will read Majority World books and support Langham Literature.
- The revised edition of the Africa Bible Commentary was officially launched at the SBL/ETS conference. Praise God for this milestone! Keep praying that this be a valuable resource for African believers. Thousands of copies are being delivered to various African countries this month, so pray against any obstacles or logistical problems.
- Pray for wisdom and perseverance for Luke Lewis, based at the Langham Service Centre in Carlisle, as he heads up the Langham Publishing team.
- Please keep praying for our dear brothers and sisters in Ukraine at this time of war. Pray by name for Langham Graduates Sergiy Tymchenko and Oleksandr Geychenko; and Langham Publishing's Roman Soloviy and author Taras Dyatlik.

Tuesday prayer points: Scholars

- Pray for Stefani Morton, based in Michigan, US, in her role as Executive Assistant for the Langham Scholars programme. She oversees follow-up and connection with Langham Graduates, who are now serving around the world.
- Recently, Dr Rhonda McEwen replaced Fred Gale as Scholar Care Coordinator for North America. She is based at Regent College (Vancouver). Pray that Rhonda will get to know the Scholars quickly and be a great blessing to them as they navigate their PhD journeys.
- Pray for Dr Chee-Chiew Lee, who joined the Langham Scholars team this year as the 'Postdoctoral Projects Lead'. She'll be working alongside Dr Ian Shaw until he retires. Pray for energy as she mentors post-doctoral students while being a Bible college professor.
- Give thanks for Langham Graduate 'P', who graduated from the University of Aberdeen last year and is now the General Secretary of an evangelistic organisation in his East Asian country. He also teaches at two seminaries and is writing a commentary on First Corinthians. Pray that P will manage his time well and know God's grace.

Wednesday prayer points: Preaching

- Pray for Ruth Slater as she assists Paul Windsor in leading the Langham's global Preaching programme.
- Give thanks for the huge progress of Langham Preaching across Africa, with training seminars running in 32 countries. Please pray for strength for Femi Adeleye, in Ghana, as he leads the work on the continent.

- Pray for the preaching programme in Fiji, and Steven Simpson in particular, who greatly benefitted from Langham Preaching training and now uses what he learned in his preaching.
- Pray for Daniel Bozsóki, personal assistant to the Director for Europe and the Caribbean, as he juggles working for Langham alongside work for a Christian publishing ministry and his church.

Thursday prayer points: UK and Ireland

- Last month, Langham's International Director Riad Kassis joined our Langham Live Zoom call, sharing an Advent-themed devotional thought and updates about Langham's global ministries. Please pray that the Lord will help Riad and his wife as they live and serve in Lebanon.
- Langham UKI's fundraising team is expanding in the new year. Please pray that the new recruits will get to grips with their roles quickly and be an asset to the team.
- Pray for LPUKI's Deputy Chief Finance Officer David McMullan as he oversees governance, policies and other important areas.

Friday prayer points: International

- Langham operates in some countries where Christians face much hostility. Please pray that our Langham family in these places will know God's comfort and strength in uncertain times.
- Continue to pray that Langham's international council will know God's wisdom and discernment as plans are made and decisions are taken.

Saturday & Sunday prayer points

- During this Christmas season, give thanks for God for His indescribable gift of the Lord Jesus Christ!
- Please pray for Langham staff around the world, that they would know God's peace and blessing this season and have the time for rest and refreshment.
- Pray that more UK Christians aged 25 – 40 would hear about Langham and be inspired to financially and prayerfully support the work.
